never satisfied, the search for food, re-begins, back to the bread line, back to the terrible sights and scenes which they have been spared for twelve hours. The day drags, and drags, and as the sun creeps across the sky, men drop from exhaustion, women go insane, and children creep under the trees, any place, to die before succor can reach them. War, battle, even homicide, is terrible. Famine, pestilence, has ruined and destroyed thousands in this once great metropolis, and has left a red smirch on the history of America that will never be forgotten.

Great disasters teach great lessons, when caused by the acts of men. But who shall say what the reason, what the end, or question the work of Almighty God? The churches are open day and night. The refugees fill them to the doors. Faith, and trust, in the greatness and goodness of Jehovah have never wavered.

The first impulse of thousands and thousands was to flee to the churches, and these fell, burying many in their ruins. They picked up their few belongings, they went sadly wandering to the fields.

The earth has rocked, the sea has risen, and fire has destroyed every living thing, but high over the ruins of San Francisco tonight shines a star, white and glorious, best of all greatest of all, the most helpful of all, fixed for all eternity in its place, the emblem, and the token, and the promise of God, that He has not, and will not, forget his stricken children.

BREEZE REACHED "UNCLE JOE"

Writing to a friend in Ohio Speaker Cannon said: "I am satisfied that there will be no tariff revision this congress, but it goes without saying that the desire to change which exists in the common mind will drive the republican party, if continued in power, to a tariff revision. I do not want it, but it will come in the not distant future."

Four years ago Mr. Birge, a prominent republican and merchant at Keokuk, Iowa, wrote a letter to David B. Henderson, then speaker of the house, in which Mr. Birge said: "There is a storm brewing in the mind of the average American as to existing conditions, and the congressman who fails to realize this will find himself in the near future relegated to the shade of home life. I and many intelligent republicans who feel as I do that the time has come when it is the business of the republican party to look the whole question square in the face and to lower the protective tariff to its legitimate ends, that it shall be no longer prohibitory." The storm has been brewing all these years, and the breeze is just beginning to fan "Uncle Joe's" weather beaten cheeks.

Ed. Walsh received word from his brother Emmitt yesterday. He and Will Walsh are all right and will come to this city in a few days.

People You Like to Meet.

Are found on the through trains of the Santa Fe Route. First-class travel is attracted to first class roads. The Santa Fe Route is a first-class road.

It is one of the three largest railway systems in the world. Present mileage, 7,734 miles.

It extends from Lake Michigan to the Pacific Ocean and Gulf of Mexico, reaching with its own rails Chicago, Kansas City, Denver, Fort Worth, Galveston, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

It runs the finest and fastest trans-continental train, the California Limited.

Its meal service, managed by Mr. Fred Harvey, is the best in the world. Its track is rock ballasted and laid throughout with heavy steel rails.

On such a road as this long distance records are frequently shattered, the latest being that of the "Scotty Special" Los Angeles to Chicago, 2,265 miles in less than 45 hours.

Every comfort and luxury desired by modern travelers.

May we sell you a ticket over the Santa Fe.
